Annual Publication
John Marshall High School
Richmond, Virginia
Volume XXVI

Miss Elizabeth Hart

DEDICATION

To Miss Elizabeth Hart, who through our high school years has shared our joys and sorrows and who has in the truest sense of the word been our friend, we, the class of 1936, dedicate this volume of THE MARSHALLITE.

FOREWORD

It has been the purpose of the staff of the 1936 MARSHALLITE to present to the student body an annual in which the real life of the school is more fully depicted by the use of action pictures in every section. If we have made the volume interesting enough to be cherished, we will feel that our goal has been attained.

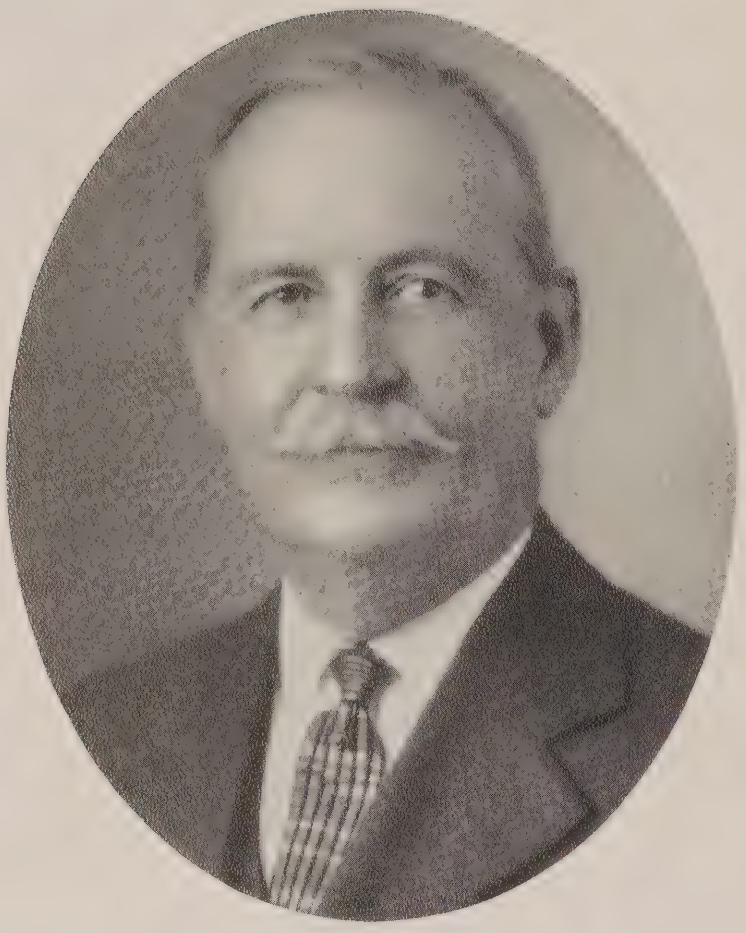
FACULTY



Mr. James Coleman Harwood

We who now are standing at the parting of the ways,
Looking back through mingled memories of those "gone forever" days,
Find one that we will cherish to the journey's farthest end
That of him, our kindest leader, truest guide and finest friend.

OUR SCHOOL AT WORK

"WHY the furrowed brow, Jack?"

"I have to decide what subjects to take next year. Phew! It's some job!"

"Having been in the same predicament a number of times, maybe I could help you. Well, you finished two years of Latin and decided not to continue any further. You would find Spanish, French or German very practical and at the same time enjoy them. I remember when I was studying Spanish how much fun we had giving fiestas, reading plays, and singing popular South American airs. And . . ."

"Wait a minute! Popular South American airs and fiestas are most tempting. But in as much as I am going to study medicine, German it is for me."

"You studied physical geography and biology and liked them. Then, you must take chemistry, for in its more fascinating laboratory work, you will concoct gases, liquids, and what not that you have always wanted to make with your chemical set. In your senior year you will be ready for physics, and in that class you will learn about elasticity and all kinds of things."

"Science is my favorite subject, so I know I shall take both of them."

"Since you like science so well, you ought to be interested in mathematics. You came through your first year of algebra with flying colors, so I believe I should go ahead with my second year of algebra, trigonometry and solid geometry."

"Yes, I had better take all the math I can, because the more I have the better fitted I shall be for college."

"By the way, when you take your senior year of American history and civics, be certain to include modern problems along with it. In it you make a survey of modern life and the problems involved in social, economic, and political fields in addition to going on trips to various places of business to see just how they work."

"It certainly sounds like a splendid idea to include such a course in the curriculum. We are the future citizens and we should know of the problems that await us."

"Another one of those classes which I think everyone needs is Automobile Essentials. In these days and times everyone should have the opportunity to know about the mechanism of cars. I do wish the school would allow girls to take it!"

"I tell you what! I shall learn all there is to learn about cars and teach you everything I have learned."

"In the business department John Marshall offers shorthand, typing, and bookkeeping."

"I certainly should like to know how to type. It takes me hours to type even one of my brief letters by the one finger method."

Modern Problems Class Takes Field Trip

"I know you are not musically inclined, but tell Aaron about the orchestra and vocal classes which one can take just like any other class and for which one obtains full credit. There has been such a demand for this class since the orchestra has played with the Richmond Symphony that an additional class for beginners has been created."

"He will be glad to hear that. He does love his violin so!"

"I should not imagine that you would be interested in the home economics department. The cooking classes have just had their dining room redecorated and frequently entertain guests. Home management and sewing also are a part of the department."

"I wish you would drop a hint to Elizabeth about the cooking class. She made some candy the other night. Such a mess it was!"

"We almost forgot that most important subject of all, English. You will probably be eligible for the journalism class in your senior year. If you take advantage of this opportunity, you will receive first hand information about how a newspaper is written, edited, and published since you work on the Monocle."

"John is whistling for me. Thank you so much, Sis. You have helped me a great deal."

SENIOR SOCIAL LIFE

AT LAST we have reached our goal—graduation, the sunset of our high school days. Whatever the dawn of tomorrow, our future, may bring there is a feeling of success, the reward of our labor. We are leaving behind the scenes of our triumphs and disappointments, and although most of us are jubilant in leaving studies behind, there is intermingled a feeling of sadness in the parting of our ways. Here we laughed and cried together as we strolled arm in arm, shoulder to shoulder, in the pathway of our high school career. We won't forget the faces of fellow students, some of them very dear friends, even though we can't recall their names. However, we have reached a new era in our lives and must face it squarely; and that is exactly what this Senior Class will do.

As we look back we find that we had a very small Freshman Class, consisting of about fifty members, and, although small, our class went forward under the capable leadership of Marie Keyser as president, aided by Pelham Valentine, Audrey Smith, Kenneth Adams, and Royall Brandis. We chose gold and maroon for our colors and elected Miss Elizabeth Hart sponsor.

Still feeling very young and inexperienced we became Sophomores. The first of our accomplishments during the year was the nomination and election of officers.

We chose Carlton Laing, who is now editor of The Record, as president; Anne Eaton served as vice-president; Wilbur Wrenn guarded the treasury; Edith Kelly performed the difficult job of being secretary; and Thomas Bruno took care of our history during our Sophomore days. We enjoyed our peppy meetings in the fall of '33, and in December there was a Senior, Junior, Sophomore dance. Many of us were new in this game and slightly awed by the sophistication and glamour of the Seniors.

We, as Juniors, felt a little more important and, with the help of the Sophomore officers and Miss Hart, selected a group of candidates from which the class officers were chosen. Ernest Truda became our leader and president; petite Anne Applebee, who is Miss Beautiful of the Senior Class this year, was made vice-president; attractive Elsie Mattingly performed duties as secretary; the Senior captain of the Cadet corps this term, Jimmy Ancell, was selected treasurer; Mary Wilkinson acted as reporter; and Anne Scott as historian.

In October, '34 we had a delightful dance with the Sophomores and Seniors, and in November we had the installation of officers; and then began to plan for our outing at Bryan Park. Ah! how could one forget the picnic? Plenty of wieners, marshmallows, much fun and all of the other things that are thrown together to make a good time, which was followed on December 14 by a Sophomore, Junior and Senior dance.

We started the second semester of our Junior year with a "Who's Who" contest. Anne Applebee and Elmo Berry won the titles Miss Beautiful and Sir Handsome, respectively; Anne Scott and Billy Bricker won the popularity contest; for the Best All Round, Mary Wilkinson and Billy McCann were selected; Marie Keyser and Royall Brandis proved to be the most intellectual; Edith Smith and Lee McLaughlin scored as most athletic; while Alyce Sarti and Thomas Bruno were selected as the most typical Junior girl and boy. We enjoyed another dance on March 1, and then came the much talked about Junior Stunt Night on May 17. Here the talents of our Juniors shown, we entertained our Seniors with a play followed by a dance in the gym; and then after another picnic we parted for the summer to return in the fall and become reigning Seniors.

As Seniors we probably spent the happiest days of our high school career. As usual we had the nomination and election of officers first. Lester Prentiss was chosen as president, but because of his death he held office only about half of the semester, from September to February; popular Helen Strange was elected as vice-president; Mary McTyre became secretary; while Woody Tompkins acted as treasurer; Alyce Sarti served as reporter and Frances Alley took over the historical angle of the Senior Class.

During the semester, September to February, we had two enjoyable dances on December 13 and January 17, and as usual had a play just before school closed for the Christmas holidays.

At the beginning of the second semester we had the election of "Who's Who." The results were as follows: Miss Beautiful, Anne Applebee; Sir Handsome, Murrill Ittner; Best All Round, Frank Sharp; Most Popular, Helen Strange; Most Athletic, Howard Ballowe; Most Intellectual, Royall Brandis. Then on March 20 there was the combined dance for the Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors. The Juniors had their Stunt Night on May 12 in honor of the Seniors.

On May 22 we had one of the fun packed picnics, typical of the Senior Class. Having arrived at school minus our books and plus our bathing suits, we gaily set out while the poor little Juniors and Sophs pored industriously over Euclid and Caesar. Joyously we made our way to Lake Ely, owned by one of our teachers, Mr. "Pat" Ely, who accompanied us as did some of our other teachers—just to see that things ran smoothly along. We wandered contentedly through the beautiful grounds until the lure of the water proved too strong to be resisted and we plunged in with shouts of glee. Nor did the day lack variety, for on the shore dancing and sundry games added to our pleasure. Then there was eating and more eating. Oh, it would take a more facile pen than mine to describe that joy. And so after a completely satisfying day each wended his way home, his heart full of happy memories. On Class Night we presented to John Marshall a painting of Patrick Henry, and closed our social activities for the year with a dance, given by the Sophomores, at commencement time.

We all carry in our hearts a feeling of grateful appreciation to our Sponsor, Miss Hart; Mr. James C. Harwood, our principal, and the teachers who have patiently worked with us during our stay at John Marshall.

We now turn our faces to the future, marching forward to whatever it may hold for us and may we do honor to our Alma Mater, John Marshall High School.

FRANCES ALLEY,
Historian.

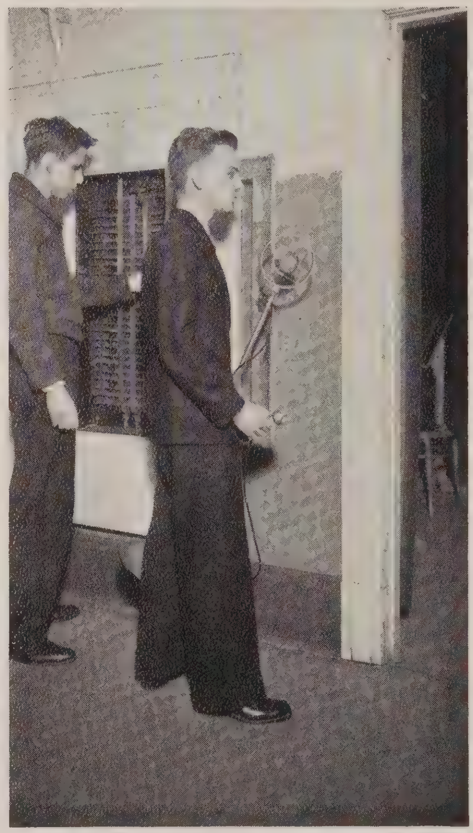
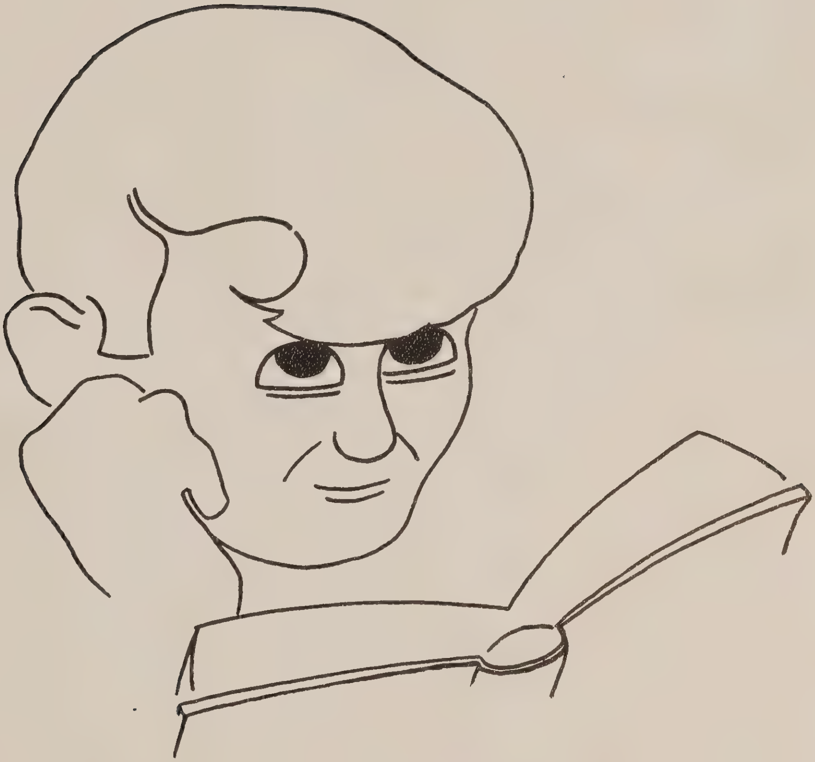
VOCATIONAL EVENTS

COVERING a two-year course, we of the vocational department are well trained to enter industry. We receive practical experience here at John Marshall where we operate the projection machine for the various assembly programs. We also operate the lighting system for plays, dances, and anything else that comes up. Another way in which we have gained knowledge is on the observation trips to various industrial plants of the city which we have taken with Mr. Sisson, who is both teacher and friend.

Not only have we worked, but we have played as well. Each year we have been to Mr. Sisson's home on the Rappahannock River where we have had a marvelous time swimming, fishing, boating, and enjoying ourselves generally.

To our Alma Mater we extend our appreciation and hope that she may continue to be as fine as we have found her.





JUNIORS

John Graham Boyd
President

HAVING obtained a small amount of that sophistication necessary for our Senior year and at the same time keeping our jolly spirits, we Juniors look back over the past school year with a great deal of satisfaction.

We started off our Junior year with the election of class officers. A committee, consisting of the sponsor and last year's officers, chose three candidates for each office from the numerous lists of nominees sent in by the Junior home rooms. On October 31 a meeting of all Juniors was called and the prospective officers were presented to the boys and girls. Payment of class dues entitled any Junior to vote.

The Juniors responded whole heartedly and numbers joined the class, participating in the hotly contested election which was soon underway. After the voting had been completed, breathlessly the ballots were counted and it was found that John Graham Boyd was to lead the class in the capacity of president. Standing ready to assist him in every way was Jane Belmeur who held the title of vice-president. Ethel Corr found that it was her lot to keep the records in order while John Ransone stood guard over the key which unlocked the chest containing the Junior wealth. Keeping the school informed of the fact that the Juniors were up and doing proved to be Anne Jamison's task. Bobby Frayser was recipient of the office of historian.

The election over, the officers and the members began planning their program for the coming months. Due to the postponement of the Junior-Senior Dance, the Juniors and Sophomores decided to have a baby party on November 25. The Sophomores were to be babies and the Juniors, their mamas and papas, but somehow the Sophomores preferred to take over parental duties; and so we humored them and put on our best infantile manner.

When the day of the party arrived, all were bustling about excitedly donning costumes. The judges had no difficulty in selecting the winner of the first prize, Julian Huckstep, who in his rompers and with a big baby bonnet perched on his head was a sight to behold. As to the other prizes—we let the Sophomores have them. We could not be selfish and set a bad example for the little dears. Everyone enjoyed that party to the fullest extent and I am sure Wythe gym must have resounded for days with the echo of that hilarious afternoon. The picture at the bottom of the page will give some idea of the versatility of the costumes, the picturesqueness and originality of which amused and delighted us.

At the Junior-Senior dance held in December the Juniors decorated the gym and acted as hosts. Although John Ransome found that our finances were not in the best of shape by the time the expenses of the dance were paid, we all enjoyed ourselves immensely as did the Seniors. A general view of the fun of that dance is shown on the opposite page.

When we had recovered sufficiently from the Christmas holidays, we made our plans for another dance. January 17 was the date of this dance at which time the Seniors and Sophomores

Sponsor

Jane Belmeur

Ethel Corr
Secretary

joined with us. The Seniors and Sophomores furnished the very lovely decorations and to the soft strains of the orchestra we danced happily, every one enjoying himself immensely. The spirit which unites all Marshallites was present that night as stately Seniors danced with petite Sophomores and gay Juniors darted hither and thither from tall Seniors to diminutive Sophomores. But even as Cinderella's ball came to an end, so did ours and with a happy feeling of genial fellowship we left the school while the old clock smiled benignantly upon us.

A great deal of interest was aroused by the Junior Who's Who campaign. Virginia Stevens was chosen our most beautiful lassie. Armstead Lowry was her partner as Sir Handsome. Billy McCann, captain of our successful basketball team and the all city quint, proved to be our most athletic. Patsy Garrett won the honors in the popularity contest while Johnny McGehee carried off the laurels for best all round. Triumphing as most intellectual, was Evelyn Harrison. This campaign opened the second term's fun as well as serving as a stimulus to aid negligent Juniors in joining their class, for everyone wants to have a part in the selection of the class's most outstanding. Just above you will find a picture of our Hall of Fame and a bonnie group of lads and lassies we think it is!

Due to the perilous situation of our finances we dispensed with decorations for the next dance on March 20 when we again joined with the Seniors. Everyone came in sports clothes and we had one of our most pleasant dances of the year.

Our picnic in the spring proved to be a delightful occasion. After the long, cold winter it was wonderful to be out in the open talking and playing with your classmates and friends. That everyone talked at once and no one heard very much of what the next one said mattered not at all. We had spring in our blood. Incidentally, I might add that everyone seemed to feel it his religious duty to consume more wieners and marshmallows than the other fellow and Miss Estes feels that it is a miracle that some of us have lived to tell the tale.

Amid gales of laughter we conducted our stunt night in April. We have felt all along that we have much talent in the Junior Class and stunt night seemed to justify our claims.

Terminating the year, we held a final dance. In the beautifully decorated gym we participated in our last event as Juniors with a promise to ourselves that should be the best Senior Class ever.

Mention is due to some of the accomplishments of members of our last year's class, who were overlooked in the Annual of that year. Ruth Peters, youthful pianist, played at the Musician's Club and this year with the Richmond Symphony Orchestra. Selma King, pianist, won first place in the State music contest. Selma, president of the John Marshall Orchestra this year, also played with the Richmond Symphony Orchestra. Lynwood Clements won first and second prizes in aeroplane modeling. Ben Newlon, Sea Scout, braved the icy waters of the lake at Shawandawsie, the scout camp, to rescue another scout. He was awarded a gold medal by the Boy Scout organization and received a letter of praise from Daniel Beard, the National Scout Commissioner.

Not only have we enjoyed our special events such as the dances, picnic, and parties, but we have enjoyed our regular meetings as well. At many of our meetings various Juniors have displayed much talent and charmed us with their singing, dancing, and what not. Even at our business meetings, we have found some of that Junior joy, for we have learned much about how to arrange for events and how to transact our business efficiently.

In reviewing our Junior year and running back in our minds over all the things we have accomplished and done we feel that we have participated in events which have really been of benefit and service to the school, for they have provided helpful and necessary outlets for having good times. Then, too, we have drawn classes together as a class and have learned the value of cooperation in putting over our events and carrying out our plans, receiving valuable training for future citizenship. In our contacts with other boys and girls we have gained friends whose friendship will go with us through life and mean much to us.

And so we face our Senior year, confident that we, too, can add our bit to the glory of the name of John Marshall.

SOPHOMORE FUN

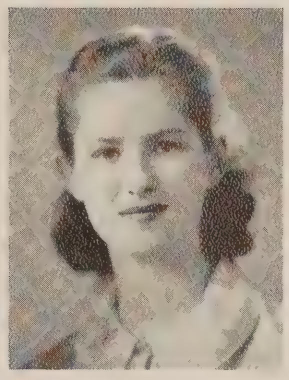
THE Sophomore Class made a good start by asking Miss Archer to be sponsor, and she accepted, much to our delight. Our president, Tom Herbert has shown himself to be a good leader in every respect. Marjorie Farley, as everyone knows, is an outstanding vice-president. Look as hard as you could, but nowhere could you find a better secretary than Martha Beverly. Billy Frazier does the treasurer's job well. Louise Hall, the reporter, is ever on the lookout for Sophomore news. Bruce English is our historian. We have been told that valuables come in small pacakges; John Hurst, our mascot, is no exception to the rule. The picture on page 101 was taken during this election. It shows a number of the Sophomores voting in 213 W around Miss Archer's desk.

Miss Archer
Sponsor

Getting under way somewhat later than did our two sister classes, the first official meeting of the Sophomore Class was held on November 19, 1935. The fun loving group gathered in 213 W, was at first rather shy and reserved, but in a few minutes tongues were loosened, the ice was broken, and we were busily making plans for a party which we decided to have with the Juniors. We planned to make this party unique and unparalleled in the history of John Marshall. Everyone agreed that a baby party would be just the thing at which everyone would be sure to have a delightful time. Arrangements were made for the Sophomores to dress as parents and the Juniors as babies.

After this meeting was over we had a general get-together and became better acquainted with each other, our officers and sponsors.

Marjorie Farley
Vice-President



Martha Beverly
Secretary

Knowing each other better, we became determined to make our Sophomore year a memorable one and so we left with resolutions and hopes running high.

The party took place on November 25, 1935 in the Wythe gym and that place probably never witnessed a merrier afternoon or livelier group of students. Big bows of blue, red, green, and numerous other hues bobbed impatiently up and down on the heads of gay young misses, capering around in greatly abbreviated skirts. Amid the general uproar the voices of dolls squeaking, "Mama," were much in evidence. Long legged boys in colorful rompers crawled over the floor, calling forth gales of delightful laughter by performing absurd antics. We did everything even to having a wedding. Our president, Tom Herbert, became a charming, blushing bride while our treasurer, Billy Frazier, assumed the rôle of a bashful groom. The picture at the bottom of page 100 shows some of us who stopped playing long enough to pose for our pictures. Much as we might wish it, good times can't last forever and all too soon the afternoon was gone and we went away, feeling much of the success of the party was due to the help and foresight of Miss Archer, Miss Kennedy, and Miss Estes.

Feeling very sophisticated and assuming our best grown-up manners, we participated in the next thing on our calendar which was the first dance of the year. The Juniors and Seniors joined with us in giving this dance which took place on January 17, 1935, in the Wythe gym. Beautiful decorations in blue and pink contributed for the occasion by the Seniors and Sophomores formed a background which seemed to promise a good time to all the moment we stepped inside the door. We had a large crowd present and everyone seemed to have a grand time dancing to the musical strains of Jack Lundon's orchestra.

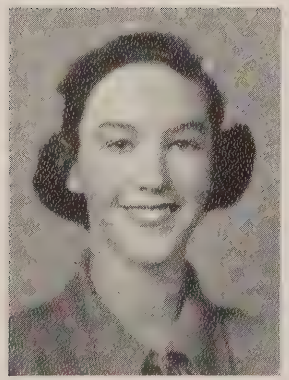
At this dance a novel affair was started. All during the evening colored lights were thrown on the dancers making one of the most picturesque scenes imaginable. There was also a waltzing contest which everyone enjoyed watching and taking part in. If you turn to the last page of this section, you will find a general view of the crowd and the good time all were having, but no picture could show the colorfulness and beauty of that scene adequately. All good things, however, must, whether we like it or not, come to an end and eleven o'clock arrived before we realized it.

Tuesday, March 17, 1936 was a red letter day for the Sophomores, terminating weeks of anxious practice and hard work which withal had contained that Sohpomore fun. Probably we might better call that day a green letter one, since we were green over the air. In addition we were wearing our green and white colors and celebrating St. Patrick's Day all at the same time. You see we had begun to feel the urge to try our wings out and see how far we could get in this radio business, so we put on an amateur hour which was broadcast over WRVA.



Louise Hall
Reporter

As master of ceremonies, Tom Herbert presided, and made an admirable Major Bowes with his apt comments. Your humble servant, Bruce English, covered the announcing angle. Cowboy songs, guitars and every degree of vocal and instrumental music was heard, not forgetting that at times the gong proved a welcome addition to the program. When it was all over, we were really greatly surprised and highly gratified to find so much talent in our midst. It is a great help to find so much talent in a class and unawares we have uncovered a golden store. On page 102 the Sophomore amateurs are shown, ready to go on the air.

With shouts of joy and glee the jolly Sophomores came together and journeyed to Forest Hill Park on Friday, May 22, 1936 for their annual hike and picnic. The whole class turned out for a good time and the hills and dales seem to echo with the spirit of Sophomore fun. Scattering in all directions, we took part in a scavenger hunt and happily went hunting for divers impossible articles of all shapes, colors, and sizes. Sports, too, played a prominent part in the afternoon's program of fun. When all had done their share in building a fire and the flames blazed merrily skyward as the smell of weenies sizzling over it was wafted on the gentle air to our nostrils, we decided that this was the best time of all and fell to with vim. To make a long story short we ate and ate until we simply couldn't eat any more. By the way, did any one notice how many weenies Edwin Miller ate? When the last marshmallow had gone the way of all flesh and everyone was beginning to feel that maybe it would have been better if he had not eaten that last fatal weenie, the veil of night having begun to slowly drop over the brilliant sunset colors, tired but still happy, we went slowly homeward.

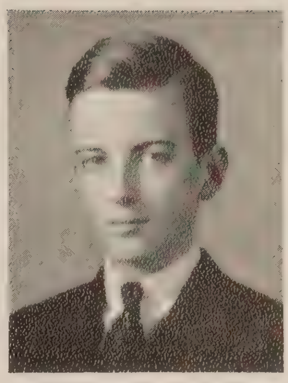
On a June night after the Seniors had given their stunts and finished their last event, we invited them over to the Wythe gym to be our guests for the final dance of the year and for our final event as Sophomores. The gym was decorated in pastel colors and everyone had an enjoyable evening. There was, however, a tinge of sadness in the air as the soft strains of the orchestra died away and everyone prepared to leave. For the Seniors it meant farewell to their high school days while for us it meant that our Sophomore year, with all its joys and sorrows, had passed into the realm of unreturnable time.



Bruce English
Historian

And now as we stand and look back over the Sophomore year of the Class of 1938 we feel that we have kept our promise to ourselves and that this year has truly been a memorable one. Of course we have made our mistakes, but we feel that we shall go forward and next year be a better class for having made errors, since they have taught us many valuable lessons. We feel that we owe much to the help and patience of Miss Archer and the endeavors of the officers.

Bruce English,
Historian.

THE CADET HOP

'MID blue and white streamers, dreamy music, and soft lights, fifty Cadet officers and their partners, led by Constance Adams and Cadet Captain Albert Morris, danced through the intricate measures of the beautiful figure at the Christmas hop. Clad in white, the girls first formed a heart while the boys, who were in full dress with white trousers and cap covers, became a living arrow. As the battalion stood in formation on the drill floor, those in the figure formed a 36 and the school monogram.

Each girl will remember as long as she lives the thrill of passing down the saber arch after which she received her memento of the occasion. This was a Betsy Ross bracelet, embossed with the seal of John Marshall, with a buckle under which was a picture of her partner of the evening.

At the end of the merry evening the mid term efficiency cup was awarded to "E" Company, whose Captain, Henry Harris, with Virginia Lowe, assisted in leading the figure.

As the couples drifted out, everyone felt that it had been too wonderful to be true. Each sighed a bit to think that now it was only a happy memory.

JUNIOR AND SENIOR FRENCH SOCIETIES

HERE we are again! Another year on which the Junior-Senior French Society may look back with pride!

Although we have not had much opportunity to demonstrate our ability and talent this year, we have been none the less capable. Only lack of time kept us from imitating our predecessors and presenting a play or some other entertainment.

However, all French pupils managed to tear themselves away from their books and gather in the assembly long enough to sing some gay Chansons together. The hearty voices rendering the beautiful French songs would have made a Frenchman proud.

Joining our good friends, the Spanish pupils, we gave a card party at the Southern Dairies in order to help the modern language scholarship fund. We hope that one of our classmates will capture the coveted prize of a scholarship awarded for the highest record in a four-year course in a modern language and in this way continue the precedent established by the French classes.

Perhaps we have struck a few difficulties along the way, but the pleasure of learning such a beautiful language and of reading such charming books has more than compensated for this. Our beloved guides have taken us right into the French household and lycée, and introduced us to colorful persons in the nation's past.

We feel ourselves forced to agree with those who say that the best way to know a people is to learn their language. After studying French, we all have a better understanding of our neighbors across the sea, and, after all, is not that the essential thing between nations?

JUNIOR AND SENIOR SPANISH SOCIETIES

BUENOS DIAS, señores y señoritas! Have you joined the Junior-Senior Spanish Society? If not, you have no idea the fun we get out of it.

For our "daily bread" there are rules and more rules of grammar. However, this is really not as hard as it sounds, for Spanish is "una hermosa lengua" and delightful to study.

As a special treat we sing Spanish songs—songs of the fiestas, the colorful bull fighter, and the romantic serenade. The lilting melody of "La Cucaracha" makes us forget ourselves in the joy of the light hearted Spaniards. We grow romantic to the tune of "Marta" and "Tú."

Studying the famous cities of Spain—Madrid, Valencia, and Sevilla—is very interesting. We dream of Cuba, Mexico, and Argentina, picturing to ourselves the loveliness of a tropical night, the heavy scent of flowers, and the soft strains of a guitar, as its owner serenades his lady love.

We are practical at times, however, and we did our part in helping make the bridge party for the benefit of the French-Spanish scholarship a huge success.

It's a great life and the more the merrier, so come and join us!

MODERN LANGUAGE TOURNAMENT

NOW, don't say we're wrong, for we know that most of you study a modern language just to get credit. You make a mistake there, however. You miss all the fun! To enjoy thoroughly the study of any subject, you must have competition to stimulate interest and show the importance of careful preparation—and so, a tournament.

We competitors in this year's clash of wits are comparatively pioneers in the field, for it was just three years ago that the tournament was founded by the Modern Language Association of Virginia. Then there was no Spanish examination offered. Only French students had the opportunity to win the awards—a scholarship being the highest. Even then, nevertheless, John Marshall did well. Although only two Marshallites entered the lists, one of them, John Wingfield, won the University of Virginia scholarship.

Last year you remember Lucy Latham won second highest place for the State in the French tilt. Last year also a Spanish tournament was organized, and you remember that Ruth Zimmerman, another Marshallite, received the highest rating.

Now you see why we are up on our toes! We have a record to uphold. From about fifty contestants last year the number has more than doubled for this year, and we Marshallites will have to work hard for the prize. Wish us luck that we may leave behind a record as fine as those who have competed before us.

CLASS OF DRAMA

Marjorie Gordon	President
John Tivis Wicker Charles Cooke	Vice-Presidents
Mrs. Charlotte De Courcy Miss Élise Stephenson	Advisers

REORGANIZED in the fall of '35, the Class of Drama has grown in number and in the capacity for producing acceptable performances for the student body. Enlisting its forces from the sophomore and junior classes as well as from the senior class, the organization has for its purpose the promotion of an appreciation for drama in the minds of the students and the provision of a practical outlet for that appreciation.

This year the Class of Drama has presented such plays as "It Pays to Be a Poggwle," "An Apostrophe in Modern Dress," "A Weakness for Nurses," "The Powers That Be," "Afterwards," and the Christmas play. For one performance a small admission was charged, and through this, the Class was enabled to raise money for a picture in the annual.

VAN VORT DEBATING SOCIETY

Marie Keyser	President
Freida Karsh	Vice-President
Edith Nunnally	Secretary-Treasurer
Mildred Wiltshire	Publicity Chairman
Miss Mary Richeson	Sponsor

FOUNDED by Miss Ray Van Vort for the purpose of helping girls to be better debaters, the Van Vort Debating Society has continued to thrive this year under the friendly and efficient sponsorship of Miss Mary Richeson.

The Van Vorts had a picnic at Forest Hill Park early in the fall, which everyone enjoyed very much. To help the new members understand the principles of debating four of the old members, Freida Karsh, Anne Ficke, Anne Redd, and Mildred Kane, worked up a splendid debate which they gave at one of our meetings. At the Valentine Party we entertained some of the school's outstanding debaters and received new members. Among our guests were Thais Silverman, Arthur Beck, Monte Binder, John Jordan, Roy Mattews, and Tivis Wicker.

At an open forum, which we conducted at one of our spring meetings, we were much interested in the remarks of Roy Mattews and Ellen Frye, two of the winners of the letters for debating. They discussed "Socialized Medicine."

We have this year adopted an official Van Vort pin of which we are duly proud.

QUILL AND SCROLL

William August	President
Lucy Sisson	Vice-President
Alice Warren	Secretary
Miss Charles Anthony	Adviser

TO BE A wearer of the little gold Quill and Scroll pin is an honor to be longed for, worked for, and cherished always. To those who attain this honor, Quill and Scroll stands for the ideals of truth, loyalty, friendship, opportunity, leadership, initiative, and cultural attainments.

This year the chapter has continued to win distinction. The members have participated and won in international group contests. Work and play have been combined in their various activities.

At the annual Christmas party, Mr. John Stewart Bryan accepted honorary membership. Dr. Douglas S. Freeman, Mr. James Branch Cabell, Miss Ellen Glasgow, Miss Mary Johnston, and Mr. James C. Harwood had previously accepted honorary membership in the John Marshall chapter.

The annual tea at the Poe Shrine was the occasion for The Marshallite picture and the initiation of new members.

HI-Y CLUB

Ashby Fisher	President

John Jordan	Secretary
Garland Alexander	Treasurer
Ryland Sweeny	Librarian

YES, SIR. The John Marshall Hi-Y Club has had a busy year. Starting off with a bang with an initiation and a scavenger hunt last spring, we've been having a good time all year.

Punctuating our outings at Beverley Hills and Chesterfield Courthouse with serious activities, we conducted an induction ceremony at East End Junior High School; during the Community Fund drive demonstrated the induction service at the Blues' Armory; and with the gratifying cooperation of loyal Marshallites had a successful week at the Fair and contributed fifty dollars of our earnings to missionary work.

Last June we distributed blotters advocating fair play on the exams in accordance with our purpose "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian Character." During the basketball season we published schedules of the games.

We have had at our meetings such speakers as Mr. James C. Harwood, Mr. Ben Ruffin, and Rev. B. Comer Liles.

John E. Jordan was our representative at the State Hi-Y Conference at Camp Johnson and Ashby Fisher represented us at the conference at Portsmouth.

Now that Chapters 1 and 2 have united we feel that we have had a very progressive year.

STARTING the year off with a "Hello Party" to welcome old and new members and our new adviser, Miss Leta Galpin, the Girl Reserves were soon busily working and playing. Amid candles, flowers, and the sweet strains of violins our recognition ceremony for the reception of new members took place in the Second Presbyterian Church. During November the club had a turkey supper followed by an altar service, tracing the history of Thanksgiving. December brought a mother-daughter tea; after which the dramatic club presented "Mimi Lights a Candle." An Easter ceremony and club supper were our next important events. Discussions relating to the colleges of Virginia occupied prominent places in our spring calendar. Winding up the social activities of the year, we participated in outings and parties.

We feel that one of our greatest achievements of the year has been our Thursday afternoon interest groups opened to any high school girl in Richmond. Including such subjects as swimming, dramatics, dancing, cooking, knitting, marionettes, "talk it over hours," and handcrafts, the interest groups have played a vital part in the life of the club.

"To find and give the best" is the aim of the Girl Reserve Club. We as members hope that we have lived up to our purpose more sincerely during this club year.

THE Science Club of John Marshall was founded in 1927 for the purpose of creating interest in the various sciences. It includes in its membership students from the four departments of science—geography, biology, chemistry and physics.

In addition to their regular programs the Science Club has made a field trip to the Times-Dispatch. They also attended an illustrated lecture on the Caverns of Virginia. During Conservation Week, which extended from March 30 to April 5, we had charge of the assembly programs. In 1932 the Science Club planted a tree in commemoration of the George Washington Bi-Centennial. This year we presented a marker, bronze set in granite, for the tree.

John Marshall, 26
Ashland, 0

PLAYING a "suicide" schedule, John Marshall's big eleven romped on Ashland High, 26-0 in its first 1935 game, the only one conceded it. In less than five minutes after the opening whistle, Al Hamilton smashed through right guard for the first score. Honey Mahoney was the outstanding star of the Justice attack, scoring half of the entire game's points. His 55-yard touchdown run in the second quarter was the best play of the day.

John Marshall, 13
Roanoke, 7

Over-anxiety and fumbles kept the Justices from defeating more decisively their second foe, Jefferson Senior High of Roanoke. Twice in the first quarter, two chances were thrown away. In the second period, however, the Blue-White backfield began to click, and after a steady march down the field, Mahoney took the pigskin across. John Marshall's second score came when Wally Tennant, Justice end, dropped on a blocked Jefferson punt in the end zone. A twenty-nine yard pass was good for the only Roanoke score. This win was more or less a "Pyrrhic Victory," since Eddie Dyson, star Justice end, was laid out for the whole season with a brain injury.

John Marshall took its third straight win in as many starts, when she trimmed a hard-fighting E. C. Glass eleven, 7-6. With the ball on the 18-yard line, Al Hamilton snapped a lateral to Wally Tennant, who passed to Syd Walden. The Justice quarterback ran, unmolested, for the score. Captain Lee McLaughlin's extra-kick proved to be the winning margin.

JOHN MARSHALL; 12
PORTSMOUTH, 0

Woodrow Wilson was just another of the many prep school football teams that fell prey to the Big Blue steamroller in 1935. Winston Siegfried, one of the Justices' most dependable players, again proved his ability, scoring in the first quarter. McLaughlin, Howard Ballowe, guard, and Monk Boltz, center, were outstanding in the line. Wally Tennant accounted for the other tally. The John Marshall eleven scored both of its touchdowns in the first period and thereafter were content with holding off President attacks.

JOHN MARSHALL, 0
ST. CHRISTOPHER'S, 7

With five regulars on the sidelines, the Marshallite squad learned the taste of defeat at the hands of St. Christopher's team, 7-0. Johnny Woodward, flashly Saint back, plunged across the goal-line in the second quarter after a driving attack had placed the ball on the two-yard line.

One more game and the Justice State Record was still unblemished, with the latter side of the win-loss column still clean. Edgar Jenkins and the ever-present McLaughlin did praiseworthy work in the line. Siegfried once more led the Marshallite attack, scoring two touchdowns. Syd Walden also scored.

John Marshall, 0
Maury, 7

Two undefeated, untied State rivals met on the home field of the Maury High Commodores to fight it out for the Virginia Literary-Athletic League crown. The two elevens battled determinedly the first half, neither team threatening. Hard running and clever passing featured the Justice attack in the third period but the Seamen tightened their defense and took the ball on their own ten-yard line. Jimmy Callis broke through the line for the score and victory.

John Marshall, 26

Tiny, slippery Tommy Moncrief proved the nemesis of George Washington, of Danville, in John Marshall's one sided 26-0 victory. The small Justice back, with great aid by

John Marshall, 6
Thomas Jefferson, 6

A determined Justice team, particularly the line, reaching its peak in the city prep classic, outplayed the highly-touted, undefeated Jeffs from the Belt Line. The return of a Jefferson punt, two straight first downs, and a line plunge set the stage for Walden's wide end run into the end zone for the lone Justice score. A pass from the West Ender's spectacular Alex Moore to Sam Dunn accounted for the Belt Liner's tally.

John Marshall, 0
Petersburg, 13

Captain Lee McLaughlin played his best game of the year in the Turkey Day affair at Petersburg, but could not alone master the powerful Crimson Wave. Nugent and Moss stood out for the Red team, while Walden accounted for most of the Blue-White gains.

Lee McLaughlin was made captain of both the all-State and all-city prep teams. Winston Siegfried, driving fullback and Tommy Thrasher, end, were other Marshallites honored with places on the mythical State eleven. The Justices dominated with the all-city choices, with McLaughlin; Edgar Jenkins, end; Howard Ballowe, guard; and Morris Boltz, center, winning places.

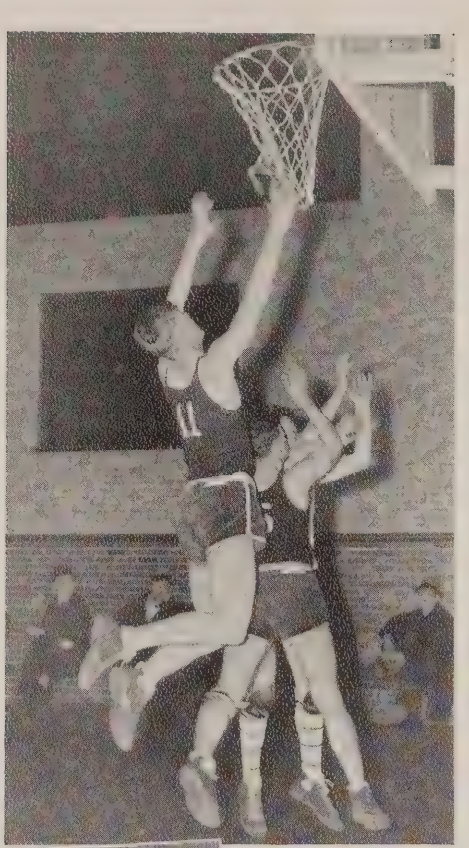
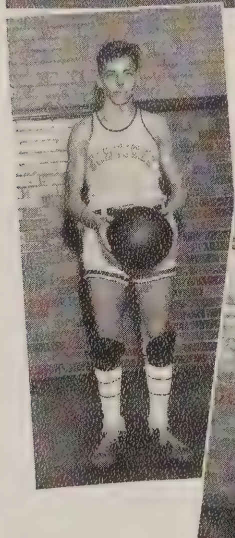
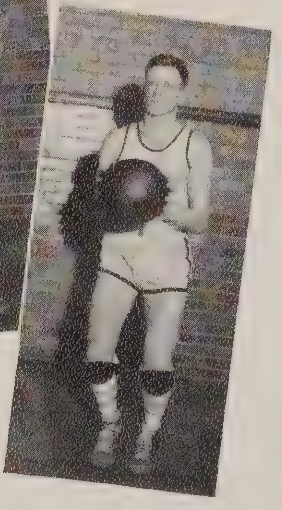
BASKETBALL







STONEBURNER

McCANN

JOHN MARSHALL'S scrappy little 1936 basketball squad made all lovers of the hardwood sport sit up and take notice as they crashed through their first eight prep opponents without defeat. Chief among these was a 50 to 27 victory over the defending city champs, Benedictine. The starting lineup composed of Seabury, Stoneburner and James Howard, forwards; Monk Boltz, center; and Captain Billy McCann and Elmo Berry, guards, proved to be a terror among high school competitors.

On the University of Richmond Prep Day John Marshall met Central High of Washington and defeated them 38-27. Early in January, John Marshall's blue and white dribblers ran rough shod over the black and orange Commodores from Maury High of Norfolk, 56-25. Billy McCann, Justice captain, hit the hoop from all angles of the court to tally 22 counts. Almost enough to whip the Norfolk lads alone.

The following day, John Marshall defeated the Clarendon quintet, 52-12. Stoneburner and Howard led the rampaging Justices in scoring. The crimson wave from Petersburg was next to be dealt with. John Marshall scored another victory against them, 36-15.

Our home rivals, the Jeffs were next on the list. They had been city champions in 1934, and were counted to give us a good scrap. The game was rough and not as well played as most of our tilts, but netted John Marshall her sixth victory, 23-19. Another city team, the St. Christopher five, was defeated 56-14.

Before a capacity crowd of nine hundred fans, John Marshall's team out maneuvered the cadets from Benedictine, 50-27, on January 21. The cadets were the 1935 city champions, having defeated the Justices twice out of three starts last year, and the Justices sought revenge.

On a journey to Washington and the University of Maryland, the Justices broke even, winning from Central of Washington by a one point margin, 25-24, and suffering their first defeat at the hands of the Maryland freshmen, 19-28.

When the Maryland Frosh halted this streak by a 28 to 19 score, the bit of cockiness in the Justice boys was knocked out, and they returned home to hold St. Christopher's to seven points, and to ring up sixty points against George Washington of Alexandria three days later, the former a superb performance in defense, the latter as equally a great showing in offense.

The Blue and White boys now played Hampton, defeating them 55-20. In the second game with Petersburg, the score was again one-sided, 42-27 in favor of the Justices.

John Marshall was invited to New York State for a three-day trip to play three of the high schools there.

Southern ability was displayed in New York, when the Justices, on a three-day trip, downed Lawrenceville and Southside High Schools, and lost to Baldwin, the traditional Southern rival, by a slim one-point margin. On February 27, an easy win over Alexandria's Presidents clinched the central district title for the Marshallites; but two days later Benedictine tied the city race, playing unusually fine basketball. Lou Onesty's Irish repeated last year's performance, when, one week later, led by all-city Frank Pruett, they again beat out the downtown boys, taking the city title for the second straight year.

Undaunted by this trick of fate, the Justice five journeyed to Roanoke and on Friday 13, whipped a fighting Jefferson Senior quintet into submission by a 38 to 12 score.

Elmo Berry, James Howard, and Captain Billy McCann were the cogs in the whirlwind Justice attack. Berry and Howard accounted for 9 points. Not only did McCann register 5 tallies, but his floorwork was termed the best on either wide.

Billy Highfill and Captain Sam Kaplan, forwards, looked best for the Jeffs.

After two scoreless minutes, Russell, "Legs" Bolling, Blue-White pivoteer, tossed in two foul shots. Playing a merry tune on the goal the remainder of the half, McCann, Howard, Berry, and Morris Boltz exalted the Justices' total to 15 to 4. Highfill amassed all the Magicians' points on field goals.

Howard opened the third quarter with two successive two-pointers. Berry accommodated with a score from under the basket. Boltz banked a sider in as Ed Weddle broke the ice for the Jeffersonians with a toss from midcourt. Berry and Bolling sandwiched a charity shot by Kaplan with a field and foul goal respectively as the third period ended with the Richmonders soaring with a 29 to 7 lead.

A five-point rally which included Kaplan's sider, Hammersley's foul toss, and McGinnis's one-hand goal boosted the Jefferson supporters' hopes at the opening of the final canto. Here, Weddie, suffering from a sprained ankle, and Kaplan, on four personal fouls, left the game, thereby diminishing the Roanoker's anticipation of victory.

After McCann rang up a snowbird and a free throw, Coach Dave Miller ran in his reserves. Simon Glick, Seabury Stoneburner, and Lee McLaughlin were the substitute's offensive stars, while Lamar Kee and Sigmund Katz shone on the defense.

With the final gun showing the Marshallites the victors by a 38 to 12 count, the sportsmanlike Roanoke quint congratulated the jubilant winners.

Billy McCann proved himself worthy of the captaincy of this great ball team by grabbing almost every personal honor possible. For the second straight year, he was made captain of the all-city squad, and easily gained guard positions on the all-State and all-Eastern teams. In a play-off with Harold Brosnan, of Benedictine, McCann made twenty of twenty-five foul shots to annex Cy Slavin's foul-shooting trophy; and although behind the Irish star by two points in scoring, the Justices' captain had a far better average. He was rewarded for all this by his teammates by being reëlected captain for the coming season.

James Howard and "Legs" Bolling joined McCann in the mythical Richmond and Virginia prep quintets. Bolling, ineligible until the February term, proved, in the few games left, that he was still all-star material.

Yet, with these great stars, Coach Dave Miller practically threw into the trash basket the old saying about stars and teamwork not mixing. For out of these stars he molded a team that rung up seventeen victories out of twenty-one tries for the enviable average of .810. The Justices' '36 basketball team easily ranks among the greatest of the school.

TRACK

Archer Booker Smith Kidd

NOT satisfied with upholding a seven-year record of never being defeated in dual meets by prep school competition, John Marshall's 1935 track squad went ahead to make the sensational mark of breaking at least one record in every meet. Chief among the record breakers were Bill Hopkins in the 100- and 200-yard dashes, Captain Fred Hardy in the mile and half-mile, and Stuart Todd in the pole vault.

Meeting a strong William and Mary Frosh team for their first contest, April 8, the Justices were taken under by an 80½ to 36½ score. In their first meet of the year the Justice track squad, facing the powerful William and Mary Freshmen plus a driving rainstorm and a rain-soaked field, emerged on the short end of an 80½ to 36½ score.

The Indian track stars, who specialize in this sport, displayed tremendous strength in the hurdles and weights and so won first places in the 100-, 440-, and 880-yard runs, the pole vault, and broad jump.

Fred Hardy, Justice captain, did not have much trouble winning his specialty, running his usual fine race. Bill Hopkins won the 220-yard dash and placed second in the 100. Paced by Bill Hopkins, who broke the State and school record for the 100-yard dash at 9.9 seconds, John Marshall entered the win column in their next meet with a 64 to 53 victory over E. C. Glass, of Lynchburg. Hopkins again showed his class when he hit 21.8 seconds for the 220 at Woodberry Forest a week later. This mark equalled the one made by Monk Little, William and Mary's sensation.

Something that rarely occurs in track happened at Episcopal High School, April 25, when the Justices and Episcopal track squads tied, 58½ to 58½. Hopkins' second place in the broad jump, after having won both dash events, made possible the tie. It was here that Cecil Minor heaved the shot 46 feet 3 inches for a school record.

Billy Hopkins' smashing of the Tidewater records in the 100- and 200-yard dashes was not sufficient to keep the Shipbuilders from Newport News High School from forging ahead and winning the Tidewater meet, held in Williamsburg, Friday 5, by the score of 64.7 to 51.1. Maury's Commodores placed third with 25.7 points.

Hopkins rans the 100-yard dash in 10 seconds flat, smashing the meet record, and then went on to set another by taking the 220-yard dash in 21.9 seconds.

John Marshall's ace pole vaulter, Stuart Todd, tied with Joe Rawls of Maury to smash the vault record with a jump of 11 feet, 3 inches, raising it 9 inches.

Newport News was also in the middle of the record-breaking, where five were broken and one was tied. Bobby Spangler set a new mark with the discus at 121 feet, 1½ inches, and also tied the 220 low hurdle meet record at 26 seconds flat. Jack Helmar, a teammate, tossed the javelin 176 feet, 5½ inches for a new Tidewater mark.

It was a first and second in the broad jump, a first and fourth in the javelin, and a first, second, and fourth in the 440-yard run, which netted the Shipbuilders points to win, while the Justices didn't take places in either of the three events.

Three State records broken, one tied, and one new school record was the result of the Virginia

Literary and Athletic League championship races held at the University of Virginia, when Newport News nosed out John Marshall 42⅓ to 37½ to take the crown.

It was the second time that the Shipbuilders proved a stumbling block for the Justices this year, once before in the Tidewater meet.

Billy Hopkins, brilliant sprinter who has broken a record in every meet this year, was again the Justice bright light. He set a new State record for the 100-yard dash at 10 seconds flat, and also showed his heels to the field to tie the mark of 22 seconds for the 220.

Stuart Todd came through with his finest performance of the year. Stuart has been raising the pole vault mark all year, and at Charlottesville he went over the bar at 11 feet, 6 inches, setting a new record for John Marshall.

Two Newport News luminaries, Bobby Dodd and Jack Helmar, also became State record-holders. Dodd, the meet's high-scorer, high-jumped 6 feet to a new mark, and Helmar tossed the javelin 173 feet, 7½ inches.

McLaughlin, Cassidy, Phillips, and Hardy won second places for John Marshall in the discus, high jump, shot-put, and half-mile, respectively.

Richmond prep schools could offer no competition to John Marshall on May 15 at the stadium, and the meet was practically a walk-away. Captain Fred Hardy, always a consistent winner, loomed higher than ever in this meet to take the mile in 4.37 for a new city record. He seemed to hit his stride toward the end of the season, for three days later, Fred broke the "C" Club record in Washington with 4:38.8. The Justices were bettered in this meet by Tech High of Washington and the irrepressible Newport News Shipbuilders.

Total points seemed to be attracted to the Captains, for Bill Hopkins, undefeated in 100 and 200 for two years, captain in 1934, led the Justice scorers with 81 points. Captain Fred Hardy, of the '35 squad, followed with 51 points; and Cecil Minor, captain elect for '36, came third for the year with 46½ points.

WITH the death of Fleming Stone, who was slated to be John Marshall's number one hurler, a rather downcast coach "Gummy" Proctor, began building his 1935 baseball team around his five veterans, Pete Prout, Cocky Driver, Jimmy Mundy, Charley Bricker, and Lennie Atkinson.

After being defeated four times by the weather, the Justices finally found a clear day and took advantage of it to beat a Highland Springs nine, 7-5. Speedy Rowe was the big gun for the Marshallites, getting a double and two singles in four trips to the plate. In a game full of errors and bases on balls, the Justices scored their second win of the season with a 5-4 victory over the Richmond Frosh.

Jim Young pitched a good game when the Justices journeyed to Hopewell, but bad support lost the game for him, 6-3. Billy McCann, first baseman, was the big slugger of this contest, blasting out three hits in five attempts.

Then came the first city championship tilt, and Pete Prout lost a twelve inning heart-breaker to the St. Christopher's star hurler, Ducky Lawson, by a 4-2 score. In the twelfth, after the Saints had pushed across two runs, Charley Bricker came to bat in the John Marshall half with two men on the sacks. He lined a terrific drive to center that was slated for a homer, but Ross Gibson made a sensational circus catch and stopped short the aroused Justice hopes.

Her second bid for the city title was much more enheartening for John Marshall, as she trampled the Jeffs from the Belt Line District in a one-sided game, 8-2. Prout had things his way this day, striking out eleven Jeffersonians and allowing but six hits. Rowe started the game off with a homer, and, from then on, with the aid of Billy McCann and Wally Tennant, proceeded to cinch the game.

On May 3, the Blue-White team again triumphed over its cousins from "up-town," this time by the score of 5-1. Aided by errorless defense, Bobby Prout, pitcher, again proved the Jeffs' nemesis. Charley Bricker was once more the spark plug of the day.

St. Christopher's ball club a second time proved just a bit too strong for the Justice nine, and, led by Ducky Lawson, defeated the big blue team, 2-1. Thirteen John Marshall batsmen bowed before the pitching slants of the Saints' ace, while young Billy Cobb succeeded in getting the third strike by eight enemy sluggers. Tennant and Gibson were the best stars of the day, each getting two for four.

John Marshall's nine rode in Petersburg, May 7, and gave the Cockade City team its first set-back of the season, 4-3. Going to bat in the fifth inning, Jimmy Mundy found the tying runs on base, and what should he do but smack out a home run to put the Justices ahead by one run, which proved to be the winning margin. Lennie Atkinson turned in an excellent defensive performance at the hot corner. Billy Cobb of the visitors and Mitchell of the home team both pitched plausbile games.

Williams and Mundy shone on the University of Virginia diamond, when the Blue-White nine defeated the Virginia Frosh, 8-2. Once more Prout put on a strike-out show, fanning seven men.

Sending nine runs across the plate in the first inning, the Justice baseball squad cinched its final game of the year with a 16-4 victory over Hopewell. Prout struck out four opposition batters, making his season's total forty-eight and his average eight a game. Roy Lacy was the most consistent batter getting three for four.

Losing but three of the ten games played, the Justice squad made a fine 700 average, bowing to but one State opponent. Wally Tennant led the team's batsmen getting a 325 average, while Pete Prout headed the hurlers, losing but one game in six tries. Mundy, Bricker, and Prout were chosen for the all-city team, Rowe, Tennant, and Chalkley making the second team.

HOCKEY

HOCKEY

WITH eight lettermen returning, the hopes of the 1935 squad were high. However, their ranks were reduced when two of these were declared ineligible. The five vacant berths were ably filled by members of last year's squad.

After a month's hard drilling, the John Marshall lassies opened their schedule against the strong St. Catherine's aggregation. Allen, Saint center forward, surprisingly accounted for the only tally of the first half in the opening minute of action, when she caught the Marshallites off guard. The stubborn defense of Margaret Forrer, Ann Bickerstaff, and Jane Pretlow prevented any further damage from the Gold and Whites during the remainder of the period.

Margaret Moore executed a long run for the Justices when she broke through the Westhampton line, dribbled freely for fifty yards, but missed the chance at the goal.

Games with Collegiate, William and Mary Extension, Thomas Jefferson and Petersburg followed. The John Marshall hockey team blamed their 2-0 victory over their friendly "arch" enemies, Thomas Jefferson, to the appearance of their new cute mascot, Johnny Ducky Marshall, who stood behind the visitors' goal.

Successive tallies by the red-haired Moore sisters, Cato and Margaret, in the final period gave the hustling Marshallites the necessary edge over the West Enders.

"The entire team played a nice game," stated Miss Elizabeth Webb, girls' physical director.

John Marshall entered two teams in the "Play Day Tournament," the first team bowing to St. Catherine's Golds 5-0 and to Petersburg 1-0. The second team put up a plucky fight, but was downed by the Thomas Jefferson first team 3-0 and by Matthew Whaley High School, 1-0. The second team also challenged William and Mary Extension's second string players and came out on top 3-0. A team which included no Seniors was upset by a Westhampton eleven, 1-0.

This season the girls departed from the usual custom of electing a captain for the year, and Miss Elizabeth Webb, coach and adviser, appointed an acting captain for each game. No one girl was outstanding, but all cooperated and their good sportsmanship and spirit carried them through the season. The team was hampered by its inexperience, but showed constant improvement through hard work.

Two girls, Linda Priddy and Margaret Morrison, were selected on the mythical all-star team in the "Play Day Tournament" and on the all-Richmond prep team.

The hockey team loses only four lettermen by graduation, these being Constance Cohen, Cato Moore, Jane Pretlow, and Anne Gray Cohen. Although their record for 1935 was not a brilliant one, the girls showed their determination and pluck, and with seven lettermen and a large squad returning, next season should be one worthy of notice.

MISS WEBB'S annual call for basketball players was answered this year by almost sixty lassies, all eager to prove themselves worthy of a berth on the John Marshall sextette. Among this large group there were only two lettermen around whom the team had to be built. After a few weeks of practice, the squad was reduced to about twenty girls, forming a first and second team. The honor of piloting the aggregation was bestowed upon the two former monogram winners, Pauline Waldbauer and Frances Hinshaw. A captain was chosen by the second team before each fray, thus giving many girls a chance to exhibit their ability as leaders. Mary Lee Grooms again took over the duties of the manager and fulfilled all of her obligations quite capably. Numerous and stiff drills with much hard work by all soon whipped the team into shape and bravely it faced a test of its power.

During the season, the girls played 15 games, winning 6, tying 1, and losing 8 of their games.

The John Marshall lassies finished their season in a blaze of glory, winning a hard-fought contest with Petersburg's Crimson Wave. Both the first and second teams made a fine showing this winter, despite their lack of experience. A spirit of cooperation was displayed by every member of the squad and their grim determination was rewarded by many victories.

The task of continuing to bring fame and honor to John Marshall through its girls' basketball team rests on the shoulders of the four returning lettermen and the members of this year's squad who will be back for another season. Taking the courage, pluck and good sportsmanship of the 1936 aggregation as an example they cannot fail to make next season a splendid one.

Upon recommendation of the Coach, Miss Elizabeth Webb, the school monogram was awarded to the following players for participation in basketball during the season, 1935-36:

Frances Hinshaw, Pauline Waldbauer, Dare Kuester, Katherine Milloway, Linda Priddy, Evelyn Swink, Mary Lee Grooms, manager.

YOUTH

That's where life insurance puts it. When one is young he may become the owner of a life insurance estate at a lower cost while receiving relatively larger benefits. In youth, too, there is less likelihood that one will be found uninsurable. The foresighted young man makes life insurance his first investment.
